Starting off in the van, the Brooklanders maintained a substantial lead to the end, Captain Webber breaking the tape at least twenty yards ahead of Tibbetts, anchor man on the George Washington four. However, the latter fought gamely in man on the George Washington four. However, the latter fought gamely in the face of a handleap almost too great to overcome, and succeeded in making up some of the distance. The time announced for this event, which was over a course of 1,200 yards, was 2 minutes 32 4-5 seconds, rather fast considering the averse circumstances, principally the poor condition of the track, that was responsible for times that ordinarily would be considered slow.

Virginin and Johns Hopkins.

The struggle for supremacy in open events developed into a dual affair between Johns Hopkins University, of Baltimore, and the University of Virginia, the former being returned the victor mainly through the strength of its entrapits in the field events. There were comparatively few entries in this part of the program, and the Red and verter mainly through the strength of victor mainly through the strength of the program, and the Red and Black of Hopkins dominated. The Baltimoreans totaled twenty-five points to twenty-one for their Southern rivals.

Mel Sheppard and Abel Kivial, the Olymp's celebrities, who had been advertised as leading attractions, succeeded in holding up their reputations, much to the delight of the crowd. Both men won their races, despite the fact that they were forced to concede liberal handicaps to comparatively strong fields. The performance of the former, however, was marred, to some extent, just before he toed the mark in his event, the S80 open handicap. Inspectors were apprised of the fact that he had endeavored to start with spiked shees. He was officeed to change them at once, and did so reluctantly.

Yesterday brought the amateurs out on the lots in full force. Wherever there was space enough one would find a bunch of youngsters limbering up for the coning scason. If this weather keeps up the boys should get in fine condition by the first Saturday in April, when the season will open. Speaking of the opening of the season, the commission is already making preparations for an opening that is going to surprise the people of good oid litchmond. It is expected that there will be fully 100 automobiles and two or three bands. The autos will carry the players of several leagues, each league being headed by the officials of the league, and cach team by the manager of the team. heing headed by the officials of the league, and each team by the manager of the team.

to Make Team.

Trinity College, Durham, N. C., February 22.—Dr. Merle T. Adkins, who will coach Trinity's baseball team this spring, arrived in the city Thursday of this week, and has taken active charge of the squad. Though the boys have been on the yeld for the past three weeks working and getting into shape under the direction of Capitaln "Kid" Anderson, the practice has not taken on any really professional air. In answer to a call issued by Capitaln anderson Thursday, about fity men gathered at the gymnasium to meet Coach Adkins and to talk over the prospects for the coming season. Much enthusiasm featured the gathering, and at the close of the hour Dr. Adkins expressed himself as very much encouraged over the outlook for the season. From present prospects, Trinity will have a team this year that will do much to retrieve the failures of the local nine of last year.

The pitching staff, which was especially weak last year, is '0 be greatly strengthened this season. Colton Godfery is, of course, back in college for his fourth year, and is expected to do his usual good work. "Dinah" Kanipe, the lucky twirler, who, though a freshman, was the only pitcher in North Carolina who succeeced in making the Vermont aggregation bite the dust last year, is in college again this season, and will add very materially to the strength of the staff, And then Fitzgerald and Knight, both men from Trinity Park School, are excellent work. GYMNASIUM CLASSES.

Some men wait until their physicians advise them to take exercise before getting into a gymnasium suit. A much better plan is to get into regular exercise and thus avoid the former, it is so much easier to "keep well" than it is to "get well" after a breakdown. A repaired automobile is not a perfect machine, and a man who is able to come back after being down and out is never what he might have been had he never broken down. Some men come to the symnasium for recreation only; some because they have to. The association seeks to meet the needs of all by wisely directed exercises and recreation, and hundreds of men and boys are taking advantage of the opportunity. Entrance may be had at any time, but the present is the opportune time.
